deriv

Terms and conditions

Deriv Partner First-time Trader Bonus

Version R26|03
Last updated 13/11/2026

Table of contents

1. Introduction 3
2. Qualifying clients and Bonus 3
3. Assessment and payment 4
4. Partner conduct 5
5. Fraud, abuse, and payment errors 5
6. Prizes 6
7. Changes and termination 6

Deriv Partner First-time Trader Bonus

1. Introduction

1.1. These supplementary terms (the "Offer Terms") govern the Deriv Partner First-time Trader Bonus (the "Offer").

1.2. By participating in an Offer, you agree to these Offer Terms alongside the terms and conditions applicable to you as a Deriv partner (the "Business Terms").

1.3. If there is any inconsistency between these Offer Terms and the Business Terms, these Offer Terms will prevail only in relation to the Offer.

1.4. "Offer Notice" means any email, Partner App message, or other communication from Deriv setting out the details of an Offer, including the eligible partners, applicable Offer Period, Bonus amount, any minimum number of Qualifying Clients, client eligibility requirements, assessment period, payment timing, and any Prize.

1.5. "Offer Period" means the period specified in the applicable Offer Notice during which a client must make their first trade to qualify for the Offer.

1.6. An Offer is open only to the partners specified in the applicable Offer Notice. Where eligibility depends on your country of residence, Deriv will use the country recorded in your partner account at the time specified in the Offer Notice.

2. Qualifying clients and Bonus

2.1. A "Qualifying Client" is a new, KYC-verified client who:

2.1.1. Makes their first trade during the Offer Period and is attributed to you at the time of that first trade;

2.1.2. Meets the client eligibility requirements specified in the applicable Offer Notice;

2.1.3. Meets Deriv's applicable funding, fund-retention, and trading activity requirements; and

2.1.4. Satisfies any other eligibility and anti-abuse criteria determined by Deriv.

2.2. Deriv determines whether a client is a Qualifying Client using internal criteria, which may include criteria relating to funding, retention of funds, and trading activity. Deriv is not required to disclose the thresholds or detailed assessment criteria used, and its decision on qualification is final.

2.3. For each Qualifying Client, you may receive a bonus (the "Bonus") in the amount specified in the applicable Offer Notice. The Bonus is paid in addition to your usual partner commission.

2.4. A maximum of one Bonus is payable for each Qualifying Client under an Offer, to the partner the client was attributed to at their first trade. Reattributing a client does not create a new entitlement.

2.5. Where the applicable Offer Notice specifies a minimum number of Qualifying Clients for a period, the Bonus is payable only for a period in which you reach that minimum. If you reach it, the Bonus is payable for every Qualifying Client in that period.

2.6. Where a client qualifies under more than one Offer, the total Bonus payable for that client will not exceed the highest Bonus amount available for that client under any one of those Offers. Deriv may reduce a later payment by any Bonus already paid for that client.

3. Assessment and payment

3.1. Deriv will assess whether a client qualifies for the Bonus in accordance with the assessment period specified in the applicable Offer Notice.

3.2. Deriv may reassess a client within any additional assessment period specified in the applicable Offer Notice.

3.3. If a client qualifies, the Bonus will be paid within the time specified in the applicable Offer Notice or, if no time is specified, included in a subsequent partner commission payment.

3.4. Deriv may withhold payment while it reviews suspected fraud, abuse, self-referral, manufactured activity, or any other activity that may breach these Offer Terms or the Business Terms.

3.5. A client who meets the eligibility requirements for an Offer only after the deadline specified in the applicable Offer Notice will not count as a Qualifying Client towards your Bonus for that period, unless the Offer Notice states otherwise.

4. Partner conduct

4.1. The Offer is a partner incentive only. You must not advertise or otherwise present the Bonus as an offer or incentive available to clients.

4.2. You must not pass on any part of the Bonus to a client, directly or indirectly, including as a rebate, cashback, deposit match, gift, or other benefit.

4.3. You must not encourage a client to deposit funds, retain funds in their account, or trade for the purpose of qualifying you for the Bonus.

4.4. All marketing and promotional activity relating to clients introduced under an Offer must comply with the Business Terms, Deriv's applicable partner marketing requirements, and all applicable local laws and regulations. You are responsible for ensuring that your promotional activities comply with the laws and regulations that apply in the jurisdictions where you promote Deriv.

5. Fraud, abuse, and payment errors

5.1. Deriv may withhold, cancel, or recover a Bonus if it determines or reasonably suspects that:

5.1.1. A client or partner has engaged in fraud, self-referral, manufactured activity, manipulation, or other abusive conduct;

5.1.2. A partner or client has attempted to circumvent the intended operation or eligibility requirements of the Offer;

5.1.3. False, incomplete, or misleading information has been provided;

5.1.4. A Bonus has been paid in error; or

5.1.5. These Offer Terms or the Business Terms have been breached.

5.2. Deriv may suspend or remove a partner from the Offer where it reasonably suspects fraud, abuse, or conduct inconsistent with the intended operation of the Offer. Any action Deriv may take under the Business Terms remains unaffected.

6. Prizes

6.1. Where an Offer Notice includes a prize (a "Prize"), Deriv will award it on the basis, and to the number of partners, specified in the Offer Notice.

6.2. Deriv will confirm the winners after completing its internal applicable verifications. Its decision on the winners is final.

6.3. A Prize is personal to the winning partner. It cannot be transferred or exchanged for cash or any other alternative, unless the Offer Notice states otherwise.

6.4. A Prize is subject to any conditions specified in the applicable Offer Notice. If a winner does not meet those conditions, or declines or cannot take the Prize, Deriv may award it to the next eligible partner.

6.5. If you are suspended or removed from an Offer, you forfeit any unpaid Bonus and any Prize.

7. Changes and termination

7.1. Deriv may amend, suspend, withdraw, or terminate the Offer by notifying participating partners.

7.2. Unless Deriv states otherwise, ending an Offer will not affect clients attributed to you before the Offer ends. Those clients may continue to qualify for the Bonus under the Offer Terms and Offer Notice that applied when they were attributed to you.

deriv